

Our influencing priorities

Through the following priorities, we seek to influence and achieve change on behalf of our membership across the acute, ambulance, community and mental health sectors:

1 Play a leading role in the conversation on reform, improvement and transformation of the health service, centred around patient needs.

2 Advocate for investment in robust workforce planning and development as essential to providing safe, high-quality care.

3 Make the case for better access to capital funding, the revenue funding needed to enhance productivity, and the importance of sustained whole system investment.

4 Provide the frontline view on ongoing operational pressures, care backlogs and the impact of health inequalities.

5 Help shape the landscape to enable trusts in systems and their partners to work collaboratively and deliver joined-up care for the communities they serve.

Our commitment to race equality and inclusive leadership across the NHS underpins and informs our work across each area.
